The Battle. The delegates to St. Louis have nearly alleft their homes by this time. There are no doubt several of them in Richmond this morning on their way. They must have made up their minds ere now either to vote for the nomination of some particular candidate without reference to what they may hear at St. Louis concerning his availability, or to await the result of conference there before deciding to whom they will give their support. In either case the contest in the newspapers ends this morning. We shall continue, of course, to give all the interesting items of news that we can find bearing upon the nomination; but as the delegates, who are to decide the question, have left our vicinage, and betaken themselves to the tender mercies of the editors of other sections, we shall not try any longer to convince them that our man is the

We have supported but one of the aspirants. We are so constituted that we can't change from Jones to Smith at a moment's warning, nor because one man or a thousand men do so. We have said nothing for any other man than TILDEN; and we have said nothing worse of any other aspirant than that he cannot be elected.

BAYARD would be our choice if only the man were to be looked at. He is worthy of his name. With him as our nominee, we should carry indeed every southern State except South Carolina, but not one other. Nevertheless, we are for him as our second choice. As HENRY WATTERSON says, if we cannot nominate a candidate who can be elected, let us nominate one under whose flag we can go down in a blaze of glory. It would be an honor to be beaten fighting under such a leader.

THURMAN is the best specimen of a states man whose name has been mentioned in connection with the presidency. The circumstances are such, however, that it will hardly be seriously proposed to nominate him, we suppose. As BAYARD's nomination would invite defeat because he is a southern man, so Thurman's would be unwise because his State is almost certain to vote for HAYES, who has defeated THUR-MAN himself as a candidate for Governor. HENDRICKS we would reserve for the second place on the ticket. We do not think that his friends can suppose that he could carry New York. He could doubtless get the vote of Indiana. General HANCOCK may come forward as the "Great Unknown." Whilst we do not consider him a strong candidate, it cannot be denied that he occupies a very different position from those of BAYARD and THUR-MAN. His friends think that he is available because he is a General in the Federal army. We regard this as a great mistake. For southern men to nominate a candidate for the purpose of arousing the war feelings of the North would be the most unwise thing they could do. In less than a month after his nomination HANCOCK would be considered as the representative of the sentative of the northern soldiers; and then we should be in a beatific condition. But we will not speculate on such a possibility. If HANCOCK is nominated the South will, it is said, find in him a friend of the Texas Pacific railroad. This fact, or surmise, will, however, not add to his prospects of suc-

There is one chance for success after Til-DEN shall have been defeated of the nomination, conceding such a result possible, as we of course do. That chance lies in the nomination of a Connecticut or New Jersey man acceptable to the New York Democracy. We take it for granted that it would be useless to expect New York to cast her vote for any other New Yorker than TILDEN. His friends would know that but for the friends of his rivals SEYMOUR and CHURCH he would have been nominated himself; and it is hardly to be expected that TILDEN would run again for Governor in order to secure the vote of the State for SEYMOUR or CHURCH, or that his friends would feel like exerting themselves in behalf of aspirants who would by their machinations have defeated the most popular man in New York of the nomination for the presidency. But Governor ENGLISH, or Governor INGERSOLL, or Governor PARKER (if he is not too old), might possibly carry New York, New Jersey, and Connecticut, and be elected.

After the St. Louis Convention shall have adjourned we shall know who is the nomince. Till then we are for TILDEN.

"In the Name of the Prophet, Figs"! The Baltimore Gazette of yesterday comes out in a two-column article headed:

"Hancock for President-The Democratic Opinion in Congress-Interviews

do likewise. with Leading Representatives from all Sections of the Union-The North, the South, the East, and the West United-How St. Louis can Beat Cincinnati." We read it over to see whether any Virginia congressmen had been caught in such a trap. Not one, thank Heaven. But who are these leading representatives? They are 3 out of Pennsylvania's 27; 1 of Georgia's 9; 1 of New York's 33; 4 of Maryland's 6; 4 of Tennessee's 10; 3 of Alabama's 9; 1 from California; 3 from Louisiana; 2 from Texas; 1 from New Hampshire; 1 from Kentucky; 7 from Missouri; 2 from Florida; and 4 from North Carolina. That's a grand showing. And in the whole number not one distinguished man. The States that we must carry are New York, New Jersey, and Connecticut. They are all for TILDEN. Not one of their representatives declares for HANCOCK, though 1 says HANCOCK could carry New York. Since seeing this listmade up to influence delegates en route to St. Louis-we are more confident than ever before that HANCOCK will not be in anybody's way unless as the "great unknown." If he comes in at all, it will be after the twothirds rule shall have killed off all our strong men, as Blaine, Conkling, Morton, &c., were slain at Cincinnati.

The New York Tribune says that the Connecticut delegation to St. Louis held a meeting at Hartford last week, when it is reported that all but one of the delegates were found to be in favor of Governor TILDEN. The disagreeing one is said to be for Senator BAYARD, first, last, and all the time. That one must be Senator Eaton. He is a Bourbon of the Bourbons, and a true man. The city of Louisville is ablaze for Tu-DEN and HENDRICKS. The popular feeling is solid and earnest in this direction. We understand that quite a number of our Mrs. S. A. Pemberton, are invited to attend. young Democrats are going to St. Louis to proclaim the wish of the metropolis of the South. So says the Courier-Journal.

ing Tilder and Hendricks at the mast head. "We shall clearly get through with St. Louis the first day."

ROANORE COLLEGE. TWENTY-THIRD COMMENCEMENT—SECOND AND

THIRD DAYS-CONTEST IN ORATORY. [Reported for the Dispatch.] SALEM, June 20, 1876. The most interesting feature of yester ay's exercises was the contest for the gold medal in oratory, given by the Sigma Chi Fraternity. The Town Hall having been well filled, the contestants elbowed their vay through the audience, and took their ositions on the stage. After some stirring music by the band Mr. R. H. Woodrun, of Virginia, was introduced as the first orator. His subject-Beyond the Alps Lie the Victory"-was well treated. He was succeeded by the following gentlemen: L. G. Pedigo, Virginia, "Power of Philosophy"; J. W. Ownby, Texas, "America the Hope or Curse of the World"; Floyd Jarrett, West Virginia, "Ledger and Lexicon"; J. P. A. Du Pont, Georgia, "Poetry of Life"; E. J. Renick, Virginia, "How Power of Character May e Asserted."

The judges having retired soon brought n a decision in favor of Mr. Ownby. This rentleman's speech was greatly admired, and the decision in his favor gives almost universal satisfaction.

The campus was illuminated last night and was thronged with fair ladies and their idmiring beaux. The alumni were addressed this morning y Rev. L. A. Fox, of Virginia. His address was deep, logical, philosophical. At its conclusion the alumni medal in Logic and Metaphysics was presented to Mr. C. O. Keedy, of Maryland, by G. W. Koiner, A M., who is an alumnus of the institution.

SENATOR CHRISTIANCY'S SILVER BILL. The bill introduced by Senator Christianey n Tuesday as a substitute for the Finance 'ommittee's silver bill, now pending in the enate, contains the following as its main provisions:

Silver coins of the denominations of wenty-five and fifty cents are to be made a legal-tender for ten dollars, and smaller silver coins for amounts of five dollars. A new silver dollar of double the value of the half dollar is to be coined and made a legaltender for amounts not exceeding ten dollars. Silver bullion in bars, stamped by the mints, with their tone, weight, and fineness, and also the existing trade dollar, are to be made a legal-tender for payment of all debts accruing to their market value as compared with the present gold standard. The market value of silver is to be determined and publicly announced from two to five days before the first of each month by a board, consisting of the Secretary of the Treasury, the Director of the Mint, and the United States Treasurer. The bill also authorizes the mints to issue certificates payable in mint silver-bars, and provides that silver coin shall be exchangeable for United States notes at their nominal value, which shall thereupon be permanently retired and made part of the sinking fund. It is also provided that the Treasury may obtain silver bullion at its market value in exchange for silver dollars or United States notes or gold coin, or may be purchased by means of the present bullion

THURMAN .- A delegation of the follower of Thurman in Congress left for St. Louis to-night to "whoop up" his candidacy John Thompson, sergeant-at-arms of the House and a shrewd Ohio politician, will have charge of the outside wire-pulling.
